

Ready to fill out your annual return?

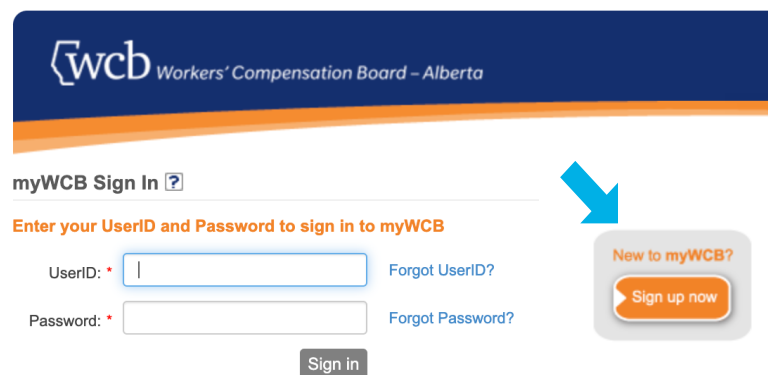

What's new this year:

You will no longer receive an annual return PIN letter in the mail. Just log into myWCB on the WCB Alberta's website.

Click Sign up now and then follow the steps to set up a profile. You will need to select the account administrator role and answer one of three key fact questions to authenticate your access.

When you are ready to submit your annual return, simply log into your myWCB account and select file my annual return starting Jan. 1, 2021.

Section G - Earnings

- We combined the Additions and Deductions sections to form Section G – Earnings to simplify the annual return. Within this section, you will report your worker gross earnings, excess earnings, casual labor, government wage subsidies and earnings reported to other provinces.
- You will no longer include any earnings paid to directors, proprietors or partners on your annual return as these earnings are not considered assessable earnings.

Reminder:

- To help minimize any errors you may encounter when submitting your annual return, it is important you fill out each mandatory field before proceeding to the next section.
- Before submitting your annual return, you will receive a pop-up displaying your draft annual return summary. If you discover you made an error while reviewing your summary, simply click Previous to return to the form and make your correction.
- Please ensure you click Submit after your review otherwise your annual return will remain in draft.

Remember, the deadline to file your return is Feb. 28, 2021.
