Board Chair's statement on WCB Review Panel's report of recommendations

The Review Panel of the WCB ("Panel") has now released their final report of recommendations for the government's consideration. The Board of Directors of the WCB ("Board") wishes to thank the Panel and everyone who responded to their invitation to provide the Panel with insights and suggestions.

The Board is an independent body composed equally of representatives from workers, employers, as well as the general public, and is always appreciative of views, opinions and suggestions for improvement while maintaining a fair balance amongst these three groups of stakeholders.

We will take some time to carefully review the Panel's recommendations, and we look forward to working with the Minister of Labour once the government has completed its review.
